

LEARN SOME Business★ magic

Give us a day of your time and we'll invest it wisely on your behalf...

Which one are you?

BLUE nurturing, supporting and feelings focused

RED assertive, directive, task and achievement focused

GREEN self reliant, logical and analytical

HUB flexible, keep options open, team player & combination of BLUE, RED & GREEN

Can you think of people within your organisation who don't 'speak the same language' and just don't get what each other is trying to say?

By understanding our own strengths and values and those of our colleagues, we can get the most out of all communications, build a stronger team and benefit from increased productivity and bottom line profits. How your teams work together is crucial to your business success.

As a taster, PDx is offering a FREE LUNCHTIME SESSION

to the senior management within your business – book your boardroom and organise a session when the key members can be available. We'll bring lunch and show you how our profiling methods can work for you.

"... To understand and develop your personal strengths instead of concentrating on your weaknesses builds confidence and a more positive attitude to your work and your future and, as far as Central is concerned, adds value to every employee. I was so pleased with Andrew's methods and professionalism that I organised training for everyone in my marketing team to help us to work together more productively..."
