

Creating high performing teams ...

Communicating effectively and influencing others matters...

PDx CONSULTING

Potential, Performance, Passion

Releasing your potential... Playing to your strengths

"Management coaching and mentoring programmes, tailored around individual's personality is a highly effective way of unlocking potential and playing to peoples strengths. This differentiates successful organisations from the rest."

How well do your management teams communicate concepts, and sell ideas?

Developing key people and teams matter:

PDx Consulting deliver senior management and team development programmes. We work with people in teams to achieve high performance. Our approach combines one-to-one coaching & mentoring with team building.

Performance = Potential - Interference

Ability to influence matters

Senior people need to influence and relate well with others. This is the single most important component leading to personal promotion and organisational success. We work closely with senior people to strengthen interpersonal skills.

Building strong professional relationships matters...

Return on Investment matters:

Our experience working with people in teams has achieved rapid improvements in performance, yielding realistic returns on investment.

Individuals and teams matter:

- ✓ Dedicated time and space for reflecting, new thinking and action planning next steps
- ✓ Performance improvement through goal setting and visualising measurable outcomes
- ✓ Management & teams deal confidently with conflict and difficult situations
- ✓ Breaking old habits, and apply effective new strategies
- ✓ Learning the value of feedback, rather than 'biting-back'
- ✓ Motivating - playing to personal strengths and strengths of team
- ✓ Aligning people and teams to organisational goals, core values, strengths, and capabilities
- ✓ Improved productivity through high performing teams – building interdependent collaborative and assertive lasting relationships

How effective are your key people at inter-relating with others?
